

RAISE OUR OWN NATIVE VEGETABLES.

(Written Special for The Bulletin.)
About two years ago a lot of farmers in Ball Lake country, Utah, were induced to take an interest in the question of how much of their living their farms furnished them. Some of the results from a survey of seventy of these home holders are highly suggestive.

On the average farms, for instance, it was found that the average yielded 66 per cent. of the meat used by the family. That is, on an average, a rather small amount of meat is raised on the farm. It is a fact, however, that the average farm produces 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home. The same survey also produced 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home. The same survey also produced 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home.

In these three items, the showing of the home holders is surprisingly good. It shows that the average farm produces 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home. The same survey also produced 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home. The same survey also produced 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home.

While the farmer's work is considerably more than the average, it is not as much as it seems. The farmer's work is considerably more than the average, it is not as much as it seems. The farmer's work is considerably more than the average, it is not as much as it seems. The farmer's work is considerably more than the average, it is not as much as it seems.

With corn, however, the rate is different. The average farm produces 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home. The same survey also produced 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home. The same survey also produced 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home.

When it comes to fruit and vegetables, the average farm produces 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home. The same survey also produced 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home. The same survey also produced 14 per cent. of the total meat consumed in the home.

In the case of fruit, it is not as much as it seems. The farmer's work is considerably more than the average, it is not as much as it seems. The farmer's work is considerably more than the average, it is not as much as it seems. The farmer's work is considerably more than the average, it is not as much as it seems.

My own farm is not especially fertile, but it is not as much as it seems. The farmer's work is considerably more than the average, it is not as much as it seems. The farmer's work is considerably more than the average, it is not as much as it seems. The farmer's work is considerably more than the average, it is not as much as it seems.

for dinner side by side with some Golden Bantam, picked from your own garden not over twenty minutes before you sink your teeth into it! Or buy a can of factory-made and sold-outside potatoes from the grocery, next winter, and test its quality by a can of your own potatoes put up at home by your wife!

JEWETT CITY

Some years ago, before the big Aspinok dam was built, there was a famous swimming place known all the country round as the "Swift-tide." Gray haired men by the dozen who live in Jewett City today and in many other parts of the world will recall with keenest pleasure the many happy hours enjoyed swimming in the Swift-tide. Among those who do not now live here, one is a minister in New Hampshire and the other a Boston business man. One of these two believed it possible to dive from the highest point of the rock and turn a somersault before striking the swiftly running water. After much practice and many attempts, the feat was finally accomplished, but to this day the man can produce indubitable evidence of where he came in contact with the rocky bottom of the quibbance.

she had endeared herself to neighbors, young and old, rich and poor, by her gentle, quiet and useful ways. In her own home and in many others as well as in the church and all of its departments she carried on a blessed, helpful ministry of comforting and peacemaking, and so she became the most loved person among all, one whom everybody affectionately called "Aunt Jane." In the church she held the office of senior deaconess for some years and in the Sunday school she was a faithful teacher for many years. She will be long and greatly missed.
